DHCR Announces Changes To Community Revitalization Programs

DHCR Commissioner Deborah VanAmerongen recently announced several changes in the mission and responsibilities of the Office for Small Cities (OFSC) that will help make the state's community development and revitalization efforts more effective.

OFSC, which has administered NYS's federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program since 2000, will now also manage the New York Main Street program. To reflect the additional duties, the name of the agency will be changed to the Office of Community Renewal, and it will be completely integrated into DHCR.

Commissioner VanAmerongen said, "By bringing Main Street under the same roof as the CDBG program, we are providing local municipalities with 'one stop shopping' to more fully and efficiently address their community development needs. This will help us to cut bureaucracy and streamline the program processes, reducing costs for the state, for local governments and for the business community."

VanAmerongen also said that Joe Rabito, who served as Director of the Office for Small Cities, will become the DHCR's deputy commission for the Office of Community Renewal.

The New York Main Street program provides financial resources and technical assistance to revitalize the State's traditional Main Streets and neighborhoods. The program provides funds from the New York State Housing Trust Fund Corp. to business improvement districts and other not-for-profit organizations that are committed to revitalizing historic downtowns, mixed-use neighborhood commercial districts, and village centers.

CDBG funding is provided by the Federal government, but has been administered by New York State since 2000. It is targeted to cities, town, and villages with populations of less than 50,000 and certain counties with populations of less than 200,000. The grants help develop viable communities by providing decent, affordable housing and suitable living environments, as well as, creating jobs and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income.

Review Process Now Moving To Implementation

The "Review and Reform" of the Neighborhood and Rural Preservation Programs, ordered last year by the NYS Division of the Budget, has evolved into an implementation phase which will include a new certification process for all NPCs and RPCs.

It also has a new name: the Preservation Program Initiative.

Two separate Task Forces representing both programs met throughout last summer to work on the "review" and make recommendations for improvements to the programs. A report was compiled and presented for public comment during both Coalition's conferences last fall. DHCR Commissioner Deborah VanAmerongen then presented the report to the Division of the Budget and to then-Gov. Eliot Spitzer.

Sub-committees to each Task Force were formed and charged with establishing a framework to implement the recommendations made in the Report. The sub-committees are:

- ?? Strategic Planning and Performance Evaluation;
- ?? Training and Technical Assistance;

?? Promotion;

?? Collaboration; and

?? Statewide Database.

Most of the sub-committees have been meeting the last few months and reporting to the general Task Force.

Representing the Neighborhood Preservation Program on the Task Force and sub-committees are:

?? Karen Mallam, Coalition Board president, from Newburgh Community Improvement Corp.;

?? Gary Beasley, Coalition Board member, from Neighbors of Watertown;

?? Joe Barden, Coalition Board Treasurer, from Margert Community Corp.;

?? Dennis Hanratty, Coalition Board Vice President, from Mt. Vernon United Tenants;

?? Eduardo Laguerre, Coalition Board Vice President, from NAICA;

?? Janelle Greene, Coalition member, from NHS of New York City; and,

?? Joe Agostine, Jr., Coalition Executive Director.

Neighborhood and Rural Preservation Companies will have a chance to learn about the work of these sub-committees and the Task Force during a series of Regional Forums that will be held throughout the summer months around the state. In addition, training sessions are being planned for N/RPC staff, DHCR Field Reps, and Coalition staff on the new certification process, which will have as its major component a Needs Assessment/Strategic Plan.

All NPCs and RPCs will be encouraged to attend the Regional Forums. A schedule of Forum dates, places and times will be available soon. Anyone with questions, comments or concerns is encouraged to contact Coalition Executive Director Joe Agostine at 518-432-6757 for more information in the meantime.

Steven Preston Nominated As HUD Secretary

Steven C. Preston, head of the Small Business Administration, has been nominated by Pres. Bush to be the next secretary of the U.S. Dept. of HUD. Preston would succeed Alphonso R. Jackson, who resigned in the midst of a federal investigation into whether he steered lucrative housing contracts in New Orleans and the Virgin Islands to friends.

“He (Preston) has a strong financial background and understands the important role the housing market plays in our economy,” said a senior administration official, who discussed Mr. Preston’s nomination with the New York Times on condition of anonymity.

Before being named Small Business Administration director in 2006, Preston served as executive vice president of the Service-Master Company, a multibillion-dollar corporation whose businesses include TruGreen Chem-Lawn, a lawn care company, and Terminix, a pest control company. As Small Business Administration director he was responsible for revamping the government’s Disaster Assistance Program. He was also an investment banker at Lehman Brothers. His nomination awaits Senate confirmation.

Coalition Joins SEFA Campaign

The Neighborhood Preservation Coalition is now a part of the State Employees Federal Appeal (SEFA), allowing people to donate funds to the Coalition through work-place giving. The Coalition requests that members and friends with connections to state employees encourage those workers to designate the Coalition for their planned work-place giving.
